Chair Fund Completed

This week finds the invalid Chair Fund has reached its objective with a small amount over. We wish to thank all who have helped to make this fund a success and can assure them that their generosity will be represented by the little fellow whose life will be made happier as well as by his parents.

A special word of commendation should be given to the children, whose names have appeared on the honor roll, for their self denial at this time of the year when the holiday season is so close. The good will and enthusiasm which has been exhibited by them for the cause has been an inspiration to those who have been looking after the fund.

The chair has already been ordered and no doubt will be here shortly so the little fellow will have a much more enjoyable Christmas than he otherwise would have done.

A Thanksgiving Day Review

Five years have elapsed since the signing of the Armistice brought an end to actual hostilities in the Great War, and a backward glance over the numerous half of a decade's discords that, while the high hopes then entertained for the future of the world have been far from realized, substantial progress has been made in the direction of reclaiming civilization from the devastation and almost ruin to the verge of which it was brought by the great world upheaval of 1914-1918.

Germany, it is true, is in a condition of disorganization perilously close to a state of chaos, but latest reports seem to indicate the failure of the attempts made to break up the German empire into a group of separate states. German unity is worthless and German credit gone. Ten years ago one of the great powers of the world, highly organized and prosperous, Germany today is impotent. Still, it is the price she is paying for her Tag and the attempt to enslave mankind by world domination.

Russia is recovering to some extent, disorder and bloodshed are disappearing and real efforts at permanent reconstruction are in evidence now that the Soviet leaders have abandoned as hopeless their visionary plans of extreme communism.

Austria, through the efforts of the League of Nations, is re-establishing herself and in the past two years has experienced a wonderful recovery. With the war lords out of the way, and with the people anxiously striving to develop their country in the arts of peaceful industry, the future of Austria is bright with promise.

During the year in which threatened between Italy and Greece, and might easily have developed into another world conflagration, was happily averted, and while at first the indications were that the League of Nations had lost prestige through its handling of this crisis, the final outcome has been to strengthen world opinion that the League is an important and really that power in controlling and directing international relations in the world today.

Ireland has passed through its reign of terrorism, and the Free State Government has received the strong approval and support of the Irish people in a general election. Today the Irish Free State occupies its proper place among the sister nations of the great British commonwealth of nations, and has been admitted a member of the League of Nations. Its representatives are engaged in common with those from the Mother Country and overseas dominions in working out the problems common to all and in the solution of which benefit may be derived by all.

Whatever may be the future of the League of Nations, it is abundantly clear that the British League of Nations, as represented by the Imperial Conference now sitting in London, is one of the greatest factors making for world betterment and human progress and happiness. United in time of war, the Empire is giving the world the inspiring example of a group of self-governing nations just as closely united in the development of the arts of peace and good government.

Another attempt to solve the reparations and economic problems between Germany and the Allies is to be made at the instigation of the British Government, and with the United States participating. France has only agreed with important reservations which rob the approaching conference of much that was expected of it. Nevertheless, the hope is entertained that as a result of its deliberations very real progress towards a solution of these vexatious questions will be made.

Economic conditions in Canada have steadily improved during the past year. Unemployment has more than doubled, and unemployment reduced almost to the vanishing point. The trade of the Dominion has largely increased, and the country as a whole has been favored with a satisfactory harvest in point of volume of grain and other products, although some sections have suffered heavily through frost and other pests and climatic conditions. The outlook generally is much improved.

This betterment is also reflected in a confidence of that unrest which in all sweep throughout the world did not leave Canada unaffected and which found open expression in elections in an apparent determination on the part of people to elect existing conditions. Recent by-elections in four out of the nine provinces have resulted in the return of supporters of the existing governments, quite apart from their political complexion, thereby revealing a changed attitude on the part of the voters, and an indication that the people are beginning to realize that men entrusted with the responsibilities of office in Canada are doing their best under trying and difficult circumstances.

While Canada still has a long way to go to reach peace and conditions, and largely so because of its heavy war debt, the people of the Dominion on this Armistice anniversary and Thanksgiving Day have substantial reasons for thankfulness that their lot is easy in Canada.

You still realize what SCOTT'S EMULSION is by the Strength it brings

Bella: "Do you believe in love at first sight, dear?"
Tommy: "I certainly don't. The first time I saw Jack, Tommy was in a real dither, and I felt desperately in love with him. I found out later he had only hired the car."

The Wainwright Buffalo

Herd Increases Rapidly Under Government Protection and Numbered Over 8,000 Animals This Fall

Bison Americans was due for a surprise this fall. After roaming the plains in the district of Wainwright, Alberta, within the confines of a thick, strongly constructed fence, where he reigned as monarch of all he surveyed with little interference from human beings, Bison Americans has been made again an article of commerce. The reason was that there were too many of him and even a benevolent government cannot sustain more but into than it has fed for.

At Wainwright on the Canadian National Railway east of Edmonton, the government buffalo park has been the scene of many tourists who have stopped off between trains to go out and look over the largest remaining buffalo herd. The visitors generally saw only an exhibition herd, but roam about in an enclosure over one hundred square miles in extent was a far greater herd which was unapproachable by any but the herders themselves. For from 716 head of animals, the initial purchase of the Canadian government in 1907, the herd has increased until this year there were 8,300 of the animals; too many to be wintered, and it was decided to kill off 2,000 head.

The meat, hides and heads are all to be marketed and the buffalo stock and trophies will again be offered to the defuncts offered to Canadians and Americans this fall.

"There is a tide in the affairs of men," This Shakespearean allusion may be applied to countries and animals as well as to individuals. In proof of this assertion there can be cited the case of the Bison Americans, or as it is commonly called, the buffalo. The story of how this kindly figure of North American history was saved from extinction by timely action on the part of the Canadian Government forms an interesting paragraph in Canadian history.

Who did you leave your last place? I asked the lady of the world-brook. "I just could not stand the way the master and the Mrs. used to quarrel. It was all the time. When it was not me and him it was me and her."

CAUSE OF BACKACHES

Every muscle in the body needs a supply of rich, red blood in proportion to the work it does. The muscles of the back are under a heavy strain and have but little rest. When the blood is thin they lack nourishment and relax. This results in a sensation of pain in these muscles.

Many people are frightened into believing that backaches are due to kidney trouble, but the best medical authorities agree that backache is a backache due to a heavy strain on the back, not more than one backache in a hundred has anything to do with the kidneys. The whole trouble is due to thin or impure blood, and those who are troubled with pains in the back or limbs, either frequent or occasional, should look to the condition of the blood. It will be found in most cases that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills by building up the blood and feeding the starved nerves and muscles will banish the pains and make you feel better in every other way. How much better it is to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for your blood than to give way to unreasonable alarm about your kidneys. If you really suspect your kidneys, any doctor can make a test in ten minutes that will set your fears at rest, or tell you the worst.

An dealer in medicine sold Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, or you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Are Important Events Pending?

Year's Figures Totalling Fifty Have Shown Interesting Happenings

To those who believe in signs and portents, the sum of this year's figures, 1922-23, may afford some importance, both at home and abroad, are pending. The last time the total of the year's figures amounted to 15 was eight years ago, and none of us are likely to forget 1914. The year 1902 also saw happenings of world-wide interest, including payment by Russia to England of an indemnity for the North Sea "incident." In 1906 both Pitt and Fox died; 1815 saw Waterloo; in 1821 Byron died; and in 1851 the Great Exhibition was held. What, we wonder, will be the outstanding feature of 1923?—Montreal Gazette.

Use Marks For Wallpaper

German Police Confiscate Tons of Paper Currency at Dutch Frontier

Nearly three tons of paper marks have been confiscated at the Dutch frontier by German officials. The currency belonged to dealers who have been doing a big trade in exporting marks to Holland for advertising purposes. The Dutch traders have them in bulk to use as wallpaper and also for insertion in cigarette packs, thus enabling the dealers to attract sales by advertising this pack. The marks are one-million mark notes. Such a practice has been in use for a long time and the police are now trying to stop it.

Did Not Work For Money

Electrical Wizard of Schenectady Could Have Made Millions, But Devoted His Life to Service

It was learned that the late Dr. Charles Steinmetz, who died at Schenectady, N.Y., recently, left an estate consisting of only a 1912 electric automobile and a $1,500 insurance policy, the same as listed to all veteran employees of General Electric Company. The wizard who controlled electrical storms, probably could have made millions but apparently he drew no more salary from the company than sufficient for the necessities of life.

"I do not wish to work for money," Dr. Steinmetz once said to his employees. "Let me draw it as I wish and I draw too much for me. If I think of money I will not work as well. Build me a house and laboratory. That is all I want."

Praise For Lloyd George

President Coolidge Pays Tribute to Efforts of Little Welshman

The visit of Mr. Lloyd George to the United States has been "a piece of good fortune for both his country and our own, and for the cause of international accord," President Coolidge said in a letter read at a dinner given by overseas writers to the former British premier.

President Coolidge wrote: "It has been a fine thing for our people to be come better acquainted with this eminent leader in civilization's struggle to maintain peace and I hope he will find when he leaves us a few days hence, that his effort in bringing his message to us has not been entirely a vain one."

"I Was Terribly Weak After Baby Was Born"

Mrs. H. McClure, Norwood, Ont., writes:

"After my baby was born, I was terribly weak and run down, with pains across my back. I had heard so much of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food that I decided to try it. Annual Convention of Didsbury U. F. A.

At the annual convention of the Didsbury U. F. A. and U. F. W. A. Constituency Association, held in Didsbury on November 15th, the following officers were elected: Pres. Norman Clarke, Didsbury; vice-pres. B. B. Hart, Carbon; directors, Mrs. Anna E. Wright, Carbon; P. G. Brown, Assom; Mrs. T. M. Tiffen, Swallow; J. S. Earl, Assom; Mrs. H. W. Wood, Carstairs; G. T. Jones, Rodney; Mrs. Geo. Haug, Carstairs; James McDougall, Didsbury.

A. B. Claypool, M. L. A. for the Didsbury constituency, gave an interesting talk on the wheat pool, road, roads, the Election Act, and asked for opinions in regard to the future of the Act. The convention went on record as favoring strictness rather than leniency in the sale of liquor, and the strictest enforcement of the act.

It was the sentiment of the meeting that the market roads should have first place in the government grants. A resolution was passed asking that only Canadian citizens be allowed to vote at the elections of municipal councillors and school trustees.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the farm women of the Didsbury district for the lunches served to the delegates and visitors.

"Children," Lydia Kristiansen is called. "We have our pigs dead. And my mother, he don't need no horses, he's not a farmer."

"Mother, what is a handkerchief?" asked Robert, as he looked at the handkerchief in the pocket in which she was caught by her skirt.

Mrs. Kristiansen's appearance is as if she were a woman of the world. Her hair is dark, her eyes are blue, and her mouth is a perfect picture of a woman's smile. She is a woman of the world, and she is a woman of the world.

Mrs. Kristiansen moved to her feet, and she was a woman of the world. She was a woman of the world, and she was a woman of the world. She was a woman of the world, and she was a woman of the world.

YOUNG DAUGHTER MADE WELL

Mother Tells How Her Daughter Suffered and Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Vancouver, B.C.—"My daughter is a young girl who has been having severe pains and was very dizzy feelings for some time and had lost her appetite. Through an older daughter who had heard of a woman who was taking it for the same trouble, she was told of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My daughter has been taking it for several months and is now all right. It had done all it was represented to do and we have lost a number of friends about it. I am never without a bottle of it in the house, for I myself take it for that weak, tired, worn-out feeling which sometimes comes to us all. I find it is building me up and I strongly recommend it to women who are suffering. I and my daughter have both taken it. J. McDonald, 247 20th Ave. East, Vancouver, B.C."

From the ages of twelve a girl needs all the care a thoughtful mother can give. Many a woman has suffered years of pain and misery—sometimes coming to such a point of impatience of the mother who should have guided her during this time. If she complains of headaches, pains in the back and lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, make life easier for her. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted for such conditions.

doors, and then we were joined by Murray, who had been waiting in the opposite direction. We chatted for a few minutes, then found Teddy and went to William's, where the train and wagon were waiting for us.

I had something just for the fun of it, when from the house to the left, a lumber wagon with a team of horses, came out. It was a very old wagon, and it was a very old team.

"You can't miss the trail," said Mr. Wilson as Murray climbed to his seat. "Keep to the right wherever there are two roads. And if you are in doubt, give the horses their heads."

"What's that?" asked Mr. Wilson. "That's the rule. If you are in doubt, give the horses their heads. It's a very old rule, but it's a very good rule."

"I do, indeed," I answered, "and this is a very good rule. I have heard it many times, but I have never heard it so often as I have heard it today."

"I know that," said Mr. Wilson. "I have heard it many times, but I have never heard it so often as I have heard it today. It's a very good rule, but it's a very old rule."

"I know that," said Mr. Wilson. "I have heard it many times, but I have never heard it so often as I have heard it today. It's a very good rule, but it's a very old rule. I have heard it many times, but I have never heard it so often as I have heard it today."

They took advantage of every opportunity to get into the house and then to get into the house. They took advantage of every opportunity to get into the house and then to get into the house. They took advantage of every opportunity to get into the house and then to get into the house.

"Oh, how lovely!" I murmured to myself, with truth. For if the house was "lovely," as Nicholas said, the surroundings would have pleased almost anyone.

Across the creek the house came almost to the water edge but on the other side of the creek there was a small house, and it was a very old house. It was a very old house, and it was a very old house. It was a very old house, and it was a very old house.

Once in a long, long while, after a long time of physical rest, I felt a little better. I felt a little better, and I felt a little better. I felt a little better, and I felt a little better. I felt a little better, and I felt a little better.

Toronto Woman Advises Young Mothers!

Toronto, Ont.—"During all my years of life and motherhood I have had such great comfort from the use of Dr. Peter's Favorite Prescription that I feel it my duty to recommend it to other women who need strength and help during pregnancy. Favorite Prescription relieved me of all pains, or sickness, and kept me well and strong. I took this splendid tonic and nurse during each of my four pregnancies, and I feel sure that my babies were just as greatly benefited as I was. For this reason, I am a great admirer of Dr. Peter's Favorite Prescription. Send it to me, please, for my first child. —Mrs. Rose Peters, No. 273 Kensington St., Toronto."
